Woodhull Stages Old Home Celebration July 1st to 4th

Benefit of Boy Scouts—In Charge of Business Men's Committee—Something Doing Each of the Four Days—Talks By Judge Brown, John Hollis and Ray S. Brown.

The Boy Scouts have done so many good turns the past year in Woodhull that the citizens are going to reciprocate by staging an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration such as has not been seen around these parts in many years. Not only tons of firecrackers and fireworks for the boys, but the Business Men's Boy Scout Committee will turn over to the boys any money made from concessions and entertainments. In addition to the big "doins" on the Fourth, there will be an Old Home Celebration.

The Old Home Celebration gets started on Sunday with special services in the churches and reception of visitors, and indications already point to a large crowd of the former sons and daughters coming back to the old home town. Monday will be Children's Day and Boy Scout activities. Tuesday will be devoted to picnics and various family reunions. Wednesday, the Fourth, will be a big day with something doing every minute. In the forenoon the Woodhull League ball team will play a strong club on the home grounds, with an afternoon game with another outfit.

There will be two brass bands in case one gets tired, and Floyd Woodhull's Old Tyme Masters will supply the dance music afternoon and evening, and also play at the public exercises when Judge Edwin S. Brown will make the "long talk".

The "short talks" will be by two native Woodhull boys who made good, John Hollis, prominent attorney of Woodhull, and Ray S. Brown, well-known Addison banker. Another Woodhull boy, Robert Mason of Almond, and known from coast to coast, will read an original poem he wrote many years ago. Woodhull's famous radio stars, the Horton twins, will do their stuff for the visitors. The complete program will not be complete until after press time of this paper.

There will also be various kinds of races such as Granddad took part in years ago. The celebration will wind up with a grand and glorious display of fireworks—a sight that will gladden the hearts of the kiddies and won't be so hard on the eyes of the older ones.

Mrs. Carrie TenBroeck is chairman of the Housing Committee and her assistants have canvassed the village to arrange for rooms and lodging to care for visitors. Reservations already sent in indicate a crowd.

The Boy Scouts will also assist the State Troopers in handling traffic.

Bill Quick, the champion Coney Island hot-dog cooker of Woodhull, has started training for the big day.

The Boy Scouts Business Men's Committee greatly appreciates the cooperation of the WOODHULL SENTINEL in helping to put over the celebration. They are also grateful to other local newspapers.

Committees

Miss Leona Whiteman Weds Percy Kilmer

A very pretty June wedding took place Wednesday at noon when Miss Leona Whiteman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Whiteman of Jasper and Percy Kilmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kilmer, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. W. C. Gates.

The ring ceremony was used. The attendants were Miss Genevieve Betridge and Simon Doherty of Rochester. The bride was given away by her father and was attractive in a blue gown; her attendant was attired in a beige gown. Immediate members of the families were present.

The bride is a graduate of Canisteo Academy and Geneseo Normal and for the past two years has been teaching at Livonia and the coming year will teach in the Owlville district. Mr. Kilmer is a graduate of Woodhull High School.

The couple left on a two weeks' trip to Chicago and will later reside on a farm near Jasper. Their many friends extend best wishes.

Earl Smith Wins Honors

Son of Former Resident Wins S. A. R. Medal at Waverly Junior High School—Chosen From Group of 107.

The following item wil lbe of interest to Woodhull people to whom Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith and family are well known having been residents of this place for many years.

WAVERLY, June 23 — "Promotion exercises for the junior high school were held this morning at 10 o'clock and the coveted 1934 cup passed to the next class in line.

"The winners of the medals given by the Sons of the Revolution for the finest school citizenship were made public at this morning's services. Earl Smith was chosen by the faculty from a slate nominated by the student body for the boys and Mary Weston for the girls. This prize necessitates consideration of the following qualities, dependability, co-operation, leadership, patriotism, clean speech and personal habits. Scholarship is not necessary as a qualification although the winners customarily possess it along with the others.

"Mary Weston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Weston of Chemung and Earl Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Smith of 31 Spring Street, Waverly."

Being chosen from among a class of one hundred seven candidates is no small honor and the SENTINEL joins with other friends in extending congratulations.

ATTEND OLD HOME DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Card, Holt Smith, Miss Meda Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Grist, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brown daughter Lorraine and son Benedict, Mrs. Mary Wheeler and Mrs. Earle Brown and daughter Doris attended Old Home Day at Young Hickory Sunday.

TELEPHONE CHANGES

Beginning July 1st, the central ring at the telephone office will be changed from three long rings to one long ring.

On Wednesday, July 4th, Sunday hours will be observed that is from 8 to 10 in the morning and 4 to 6 in the afternoon.

ATTEND GRADUATION

Mrs. Minnie Cilley, Mrs. Ida Symonds, Elizabeth Cilley, Mildred Birdsall, Gene Cilley and Hugh Olmstead attended the graduation exercises in Borden Thursday evening.

Elk's Band Here For Fourth

Famous Elmira Musical Unit Obtained Through Efforts of Lynn Park, Former Woodhull Boy—"Old Tymers" Also Booked.

Led by the veteran conductor, Arnold Hager, the Elks Band of 25 pieces of Elmira, will play at Woodhull's Old Home celebration on Wednesday, July Fourth, arriving at 9:00 a. m. The band will be accompanied by fifty members of the Elks Club. The citizens have Lynn Park, a former Woodhull boy, to thank for securing the services of the band. Mr. Hager has been musical director at the Elmira Reformatory for many years and is one of the best known bandmasters in western New York.

Floyd Woodhull's Elmira radio orchestra, will supply the dance music for the celebration, beginning at 2 p. m. This will be the fourth engagement of the "Old Tyme Masters" here

And just to whoop up things, another brass band has promised to come in the afternoon and play until after the last roman candle has been fired and the last hot dog has disappeared.

Come early and avoid the traffic jam on Route 17.

To Correspondents

Stone Relic Unearthed on Farm

Discovery Made by Ted Williams—Resembles Lamp of Early Ages.

Ted Williams, while plowing on his farm near here recently, unearthed a relic which is causing considerable speculation as to its age.

From all appearances the find is a carved stone lamp, similar in shape to those used in Palestine 2,000 years ago and its likeness to the lamps of the early ages is the cause of speculation.

Many Indian relics have been unearthed in this vicinity and their origin has never been in doubt but this is the first time anyone has discovered an article of the apparent period of the Williams' lamp.

The stone receptacle is unquestionably the shape of lamps supposedly used in the Biblical era and the carvings on the bowl tend to strengthen this theory—but how did it get into this part of the world?

Some have placed a value of $2,000 on the lamp.

The lamp is on exhibition at the home of George Woodward. Mr. Woodward is making an effort to definitely establish the age and value of Mr. Williams' find.

Mrs. Harry K. Morton of Hornell was in town Saturday.

Addison Physician Enters Race For Congressional Nomination

Dr. William E. Barron Announces Candidacy on Republican Ticket—States Platform Stressing Bank Insurance Laws and Economy in Government—Is Fifth Candidate for Nomination in 37th District.

Dr. William E. Barron, long prominent in Steuben County affairs and widely known throughout the Southern Tier, has entered the race for the Republican Congressional nomination from this district. In announcing his candidacy, Dr. Barron issued the following statement, setting forth his position on public questions:

To Voters of the 37th Congressional District:

Numerous and emphatic suggestions and requests, coming from all parts of the district, have been made that I offer myself as a sacrifice to present day politics.

In the hope that some good for the benefit of all, may emerge, I hesitate no longer.

It seems a call to duty and I cheerfully respond.

No strings are attached to any church or creed—to any pulpit or press—to any group or selfish interest.

Some clear-thinking is necessary. Vigorous action is needed. No modern triumvirate—no dual monarchy—no dictator in local or general politics should longer be allowed to throw the taxpayers' money wildly and extravagantly about.

Drastic cuts in the cost of all government are imperative or soon all debts will be repudiated. "Taxation without representation" is creeping on, and soon may assume a striding gait. History may repeat itself.

Cut down the cost of government, should be the slogan of every citizen who wishes future generations to share the liberty our Constitution grants and provides.

Guarantee of bank depositors' funds is a splendid law. It creates confidence. If you don't watch out, it may be chiseled away. The government inspects and supervises the banks; therefore why should there not be an insurance against a depositor's loss?

Most of the banking fraternity and bank stockholders do not wish this law, because it lessens salaries and stock dividends.

I repeat, you had better watch out, or soon there may be no such law.

I would suggest giving the remaining Civil War veterans what is needed to sustain them; give the Spanish American War soldiers, who can prove service disability, a necessary payment, and to others, if in need from age and disability, something. Give the World War veteran a service disability pension and let the others await the turn of years. This would show on their part a loyal patriotism that is sadly needed at the present time.

I believe the government should get out of all private business as co-partner or dictator. To interfere in any way in private business except to control or punish fraud, is un-American, un-democratic and dangerous to liberty.

I believe all welfare work and cost should be a community charge. If the cost to any locality should prove burdensome then let the government loan that town or city at a low rate of interest sufficient funds to tide over the depression. The present plan is rapidly creating an army of men who believe the government owes them a living whether they work or not. If this should be done it is predicted the government would be repaid better than foreign loans are being settled.

Real estate values have fallen off greatly and if the cost of government is not reduced by at least 50 per cent in the next few years your home will have no value if you wish to sell.

New deals and old deals have their followers, but just now let us have a square deal for the benefit of the greatest number. Any fantastic or illogical legislation should be repealed and more satisfactory laws enacted.

These thoughts are inspired from the belief that a candidate owes to the voter a clear statement of how and where he stands on present day problems.

Addison, N. Y.

Dr. Barron has been a practicing physician in Addison for forty-three years. He is a public spirited man and has always identified himself with community affairs.

He is a member of the Odd Fellows, the Masons, the Grange and the American Legion. He served during the Word War and two of his sons were also in the service of Uncle Sam.

Biology Class Enjoys Supper at the Rocks

The biology class with their teacher enjoyed a picnic supper at the Rocks Friday.

During the afternoon swimming was enjoyed. Sides were chosen and a fast game of soft ball was played.

In honor of the recent birthday of the teacher, Mr. Gotham, a birthday cake was presented to him.

Those attending were: Greta Smith, Frances Bebout, Doris Brown, Crystal Grant, Esther Symonds, Amy McCaslin, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gotham and son Richard, Wilson Horton, Wilbur Horton, Richard Elwell, Gerald Preston, Laverne Croft.

HARRY BROWN

The death of Harry Brown occurred at the County home in Bath Tuesday after he suffered a severe stroke of apoplexy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wakley late in the afternoon.

Mr. Brown is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Laura Lobeck of Hammondsport and a brother.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon with burial in Wellsboro, Pennsylvania.

Youth Can Help To Separate The Clouds, Rev. Arnold Tells Class

In Baccalaureate, Speaker Emphasizes Necessity of Having Character—Stresses Value of Visions—Happiness Will Come to Those Who Work to Make Their Dreams Come True.

In the baccalaureate sermon to the class of 1934 of Addison High School, delivered Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Kenneth E. Arnold urged the class to have faith in the future and to prepare for a part in separating the clouds for tomorrow's sunshine.

The Rev. Arnold's sermon, in full was as follows:

We are agreed, I am sure, that it is absolutely impossible for us to travel in opposite directions at exactly the same time, although thought seemingly will do it. We can gaze into the future and scan the past almost simultaneously. I'm testing the theory at this moment. Our theme which is entitled: "Separating the Clouds for Tomorrow's Sunshine" is, I hope, forward looking but my thoughts are traveling backward. I am calling to mind what happened in my experience eleven years ago. With my high school classmates I too, then sat in a church pew which is less than fifty miles from here and listened to a baccalaureate sermon. I was looking forward that night as I know these young people are to graduation which was just around the corner. Two days later it was a memory but a happy one. For me, that high school graduation was far more impressive than my college graduation.

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate the members of the class of 1934 of Addison High School. You have climbed a commendable distance up a ladder of life. "Get wisdom, get understanding: forget it not" wrote King Solomon many years ago. He knew and so do we that one is never too old or too young to learn: Education becomes a part of life whether we acquire it through experience or obtain it from others.

A college professor, speaking one hundred three years ago before a graduation class is quoted as having said: "You are going out into a very complex world". A great many changes have since taken place but the complexity still exists. We are living in a land, supposedly of plenty where Uncle Sam is called upon to support twenty-one million people according to a statement by Representative Taber of the appropriations committee. We are living in a land of peace where recently there has been stressed the necessity of spending ninty millions of dollars for warship construction. We are living in a land of independence where personal debts total fifteen billions of dollars. We are living in a land

GRADUATION AND SUCCESS

Twelve months slip all too quickly by and again we approach the end of the year's most perfect month. To most of us it is just another June, but to hundreds of boys and girls up and down the land it is a June they will recall throughout life as the month they graduated.

Graduation time, or Commencement as we call the season, is a time when young people have made the most momentous decisions of life. If they have been graduating from high school they have usually been called upon to decide whether or not to go to college. If getting their degree from college they have often had to choose one among a number of different jobs which might be offered them. Today it is somewhat different. Thousands of young people are graduating from high school with little immediate prospects of college, while other thousands of college graduates have no choice of jobs.

Many will regard this period as an epoch of blind alleys for young people. Others will look back on today and say, "Thank God for the depression." Why will they say it? Because they now have time to THINK, where once they started blindly along the highroad toward life, making a snap-judgment of what their life work should be.

How many people have made the remark in middle life, "If only I had known earlier in life what I wanted to do, the last twenty years would not have been wasted". That is many times true. One will embark on a course in the rosy twenties, taking a job because it pays pretty good money without deciding what it will lead to. Then twenty years later when the remaining span of life looks so much shorter, he will learn what he is best fitted for. Looking back at unfruitful pursuits, one is sure to think with some bitterness of what might have been accomplished in years that seem to have been wasted.

Graduates of today may not have a wide choice of jobs; more likely they will have no job at all for the present. But at least they will have plenty of time to think, and if they think deeply enough about the future they may plan definitely what they wish to do and avoid the loss of years, just holding down a job. A year or two of waiting and planning may be worth more than twenty years of drifting.

The graduate who thinks most carefully about the future, will weigh his life in the balance and choose that vocation which offers him greatest service. For in the golden years that are surely coming ahead, life's success will not be measured by the millions he can pile, the size of the buildings he can build, the armies he can command—but by the services he has rendered his fellow men. We shall come to know that he who loves most is most loved, he who gives most, gets most from life, and he who renders greatest happiness, reaps greatest happiness.

THE SOARING CONTEST

Much interest of aviation men is focused in this section now, as the National Soaring Meet gets under way at Big Flats. Young soaring enthusiasts from many parts of the country have been passing through this place during the past few days, driving cars with trailers carrying their gliders.

While the use of gliders has not yet been made available for commercial purposes, indirectly the art of soaring has been influential in the development of motor driven planes. Those who have drifted about the sky on the "winds of chance" have learned much about air currents which is valuable to the aviation industry. Soaring taken up largely as a sport by young men of an adventurous turn of mind, has increased in popularity, and large distances have been traveled in these motorless conveyances.

One might ask what particular interest people in this vicinity should have in a soaring meeting, in which no local persons are participating. It is a mark of distinction that a national conclave such as this should elect to come year after year to the Southern Tier, which we all claim as homeland. Soaring, while still in its "sport" or impractical commercial stages, is growing in public fancy and many people to whom the Southern Tier formerly was unknown, are thus becoming acquainted with the beauty of Steuben and Chemung County hills.

When one takes off in a glider he never knows in what direction he will travel, or exactly where he will land. During the progress of the National Meet if the prevailing winds happen to blow from the east, someone of these young men may land on the property of one or more readers of this paper. Wherever they may come to earth, may these young soaring enthusiasts not be given the cold welcome of an unbidden guest. They are strangers among us, and may have traveled across the continent to soar over our hills, because air currents are favorable for soaring here. Let us all remember these lads are pioneers, every one. If they land with disastrous results in a bit of a field, may the owner greet them with a smile instead of a frown.

If chance should blow one of these pioneers our way, let him always remember, he landed among friendly people who were ready to lend a helping hand out of any difficulty he may have encountered. A friendly greeting costs little, but it may be remembered for a lifetime.

OLD AGE SECURITY

Those who urge for unrestricted passage of old-age pension laws, should pause to consider some of the evil effects of such legislation, both upon the present generation of tax-payers, the generation one stride behind us, and the generations yet unborn. All would grant that security for old age is a most desirable aim, but old-age security should be largely self-attained, or provided by those obligated through ties of relationship, if we are to continue being a progressive race of people.

Whatever we may call it, sustentation of people, old or young by the public purse is not charity, rather it must be called a system of pauperism. Pensions, rightly conceived, are granted by governments and by business organizations as rewards for faithful service of the recipients, whether it be in the shop, on the battle field, or federal civil service. Being rewards, naturally in the true sense they are earned, and having been earned they give the recipients material assistance, without the moral degradation which a finely strung mind must regard simon pure government aids to the indigent.

There is a wide shade of difference between GIFTS of the government, and gifts of private individuals. Government gifts necessarily represent sums of money taken from persons of property who are unwilling, or at least reluctant to have tax money taken from them for these purposes. As long as we recognize the fact that accumulation of private property is rightful, we must recognize the corresponding fact that those who accumulate will desire to disperse funds where they please. Unless people with property are miserly, and most of them are not, they may cast their own votes for public improvements which will cost dearly, and gladly give contributions for benevolences such as hospitals, schools, churches, the Red Cross and similar agencies, yet they desire freedom in designating these gifts. And in giving, the benevolent receive a blessing of spirit much more valuable than the money they dispersed. The whole thing was well summed up in the words, "It is more blessed to give, than to receive."

The greatest evil which could come out of a system of general old-age security pensions, is certainly the "state of mind" the system would create. Two thoughts especially would crowd predominantly into the minds of young people as they faced the battles of life. One class would say, "I will work a little and earn just enough to have a good time with, for when I am older the government will take care of me. Why worry?" The ambitious might still strive to attain financial success, but there would certainly lurk in the back of his or her mind the thought, "The harder I work and the more I save, the more will the tax collector take to support the growing army of indigent people."

The moral growth of a race must keep pace with the intellectual growth, else through its own panaceas will it be consumed.

Every time a government enlarges its tax-gathering program and turns tax money into public benevolences, it is making a new movement to stullify private benevolence. Each new move of this kind pushes back private morality. For in this Christian land our people for generations grew up with the knowledge and belief that, what was good and benevolent sprang from the Father and God of all. But now there are some who would push the "God of our fathers," into oblivion, and enthrone instead, a new God of our Government.

What this country needs is to shift from the new course along which we are being towed by government largesse. Americans need to turn back to their churches, and from "this rock" to rebuild along fundamental lines the ground we have lost, chasing socialistic shadows.

We need religious re-awakening, instead of governmental benevolence. If the rank and file of Americans would return to their places in the churches, the churches could solve old-age security and a hundred other problems, with benefit and blessing both to the giver and the recipient.

MAIN STREET IMPROVEMENT

Citizens of Addison and the surrounding community, are glad to observe the Main Street improvement project is now nearing its final stages. The last large tile was laid a week ago and the fences which narrowed up the thoroughfare have been removed. Work on the concrete curbing and sidewalk at the west side of the street has commenced, and the Mayor plans to rush this part of the project as rapidly as possible. The entire job should be finished early in August.

The improvement has been something of an inconvenience while the work has been going on, but everyone has been patient and the trouble will soon be over. Addison villagers and the hundreds who shop here, have been able to look into the future and see what a fine street this will be when completed. Remembering the difficulty of parking during the past winters they have cheerfully accepted inconveniences in the interest of improvement.

BOILED DOWN From OUR EXCHANGES

ANDOVER—James D. Cheesman, acting postmaster for some time past, has received notification of his appointment to the regular four-year term as postmaster.

A county-wide Home Bureau motor tour to the Corning Glass works is being arranged for Friday, June 29.

The Andover baseball team lost to Scio, 6 to 5, Sunday in an Octagon League contest.

The Andover News in a front-page editorial asks that the plan of turning Cuba Lake over to Allegany county be deferred. The property is now owned by the state. The News contends that the responsibility of ownership would eventually cost the county thousands of dollars.

BATH—Further delay in the proposed action of the village of Bath for construction of a municipal water and sewer system is caused by a notice received by the trustees of an appeal by the Bath Water Works Company, the privately owned system which now supplies the village with water.

The Corning Automobile Club will shortly investigate charges of an alleged speed trap in the village of Savona. The investigation will be made upon request of the Auto Club of Rochester. Merle C. Leonard, chief of police at Savona, states that he will welcome the investigation at any time.

Dr. Fred Orwan was accidentally wounded when shot in the leg at Austin, Pa., Friday. The manner in which he received his injuries is unusual. Dr. Orwan had driven out in the country on a business errand and in order to reach a party he desired to interview, he left his car and started across a field by a short cut. As he climbed over a fence, a gun discharged and he sank to the ground, wounded near the right knee. It appears that an Austin resident who had been annoyed by boys and other trespassers had so arranged a trap gun that if anyone climbed the fence it made an electric contact which discharged the gun. The man alleged to be responsible for the wounding will face a criminal charge, it is claimed.

Appontment of Claude E. Shill as temporary postmaster at Avoca has been announced by Postmaster General Farley. Mr. Shill is senior member of Shill Bros. contracting firm and is widely known throughout Steuben county for his numerous civic and political activities. The new appointment succeeds William W. Hendryx, whose term expired on April of this year.

The Bath Veterans annexed their second consecutive victory Sunday afternoon by defeating the Trojans, 7 to 5, at the Home grounds.

Robert C. Turnbull, local chairman of the National Recovery Administration has appointed a committee to function in carrying on a local program of information with regard to the achievements of the NRA.

Forty-three members of the Senior Class of Haverling High School are expected to graduate this year. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Daniel Brox. The commencement program will include an address by the Hon. Robert F. Thompson, Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

The House of David baseball team will play the Bath Colonials in a night game, July 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Angel will celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of their marriage on June 27

An ordinance prohibiting the sale or use of fireworks except during the period beginning Saturday, June 30 and ending at midnight, July 4, has been adopted by the village board.

Anthony de Groat was re-elected commander of Bath Chapter, No. 7. Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at a recent meeting.

CANISTEO—The Rev. Joseph B. McClintock, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church at Canisteo, Buena Vista and Hamilton District, has announced that he will not return to Canisteo next year.

Donald A. Dickens of Elmira, N. Y., a graduate of Alfred University in the class of 1933, has been appointed to the mathematics position at Canisteo Academy, vacated by Lloyd Larson.

The Village Board has passed a resolution prohibiting the sale and use of fireworks before Wednesday, June 27.

The race for postmaster at Canisteo is reported to have narrowed down to three candidates, namely, former Mayor William J. Upson, George W. Lee and William L. Brown.

The unimproved streets of Canisteo which have just been given a new surface of crushed stone and oil are said to be now in the best condition they have ever been in.

MANSFIELD — The 15th annual summer session of the Mansfield State Teachers College opened on June 18.

A series of neighbor night meetings is being conducted by the Granges of Tioga County. The plan is that each Grange shall entertain two other Granges, the visiting Granges to give the program and fill the chairs.

Motor Truck Competition Met By Erie Railroad

Management Reports That Collection and Delivery Service Has Proven an Effective Means of Meeting Highway Competition.

Cleveland, June 18—A steady monthly increase in the number of shipments handled, as well as the volume of tonnage that these shipments represents, is recorded by the Erie Railroad for the first half-year operation of its store door collection and delivery service instituted December 1st, last year.

The popularity of the service with shippers of less than carload freight is best shown by the fact that the C. & D. tonnage handled by the Erie during May of this year, represented an increase in tonnage handled of more than 256 per cent over December, while in the number of shipments handled, there was an increase of 313 per cent. There is likewise shown an increase of 244 per cent in the revenue derived from these shipments during the month of May over that obtained in December, when the combined rail and trucking facilities were first offered to Erie patrons. The record of new business obtained is comparable, from a percentage gain standpoint, to that recorded in number of shipments and tonnage volume.

Designed primarily as a modernizing step in freight transportation and to still further speed up the handling of small shipments, the Erie management reports that the collection and delivery service has proven to be an effective means of meeting highway competition. The railroad has gradually expanded the scope of the service over the country until now it is available at more than 200 stations on Erie rails, and, in addition, collection and delivery arrangements have been made on joint hauls between Erie lines and several connecting railoards. In a majority of the places where the service prevails, local truckmen handle the pick-up and delivery between the railroad delivery tracks or freight station and the shippers' doorway. The drivers of these trucks, acting in the capacity of an agent of the railroad, perform the same service at the shippers' door as that furnished over the counter at the freight station. Generally speaking, deliveries of inbound freight are made to the consignee in the forenoon and outbound shipments are picked up after the lunch hour and are forwarded to destination the same day.

Coming Legislative Investigation Will Be Almost Unlimited in Scope

Albany, June 26—It is doubtful if any State legislative body ever undertook an investigation as broad as that which will be formally started this week by the committee of Senators and Assemblymen created as a result of Senator Thayer's letters to the Associated Gas & Electric Company. As one member said, "It includes everything but the weather." While the committee will be completed this week and will formally organize, it is not expected to really get down to work until after the close of the special session of the Legislature soon to be held, which may run into August. The investigating body will include six Senators and six Assemblymen, evenly divided between the two parties. It is expected Senator Dunnigan Democrat and majority leader, will be chairman. Much will depend upon the counsel. Ferdinand Pecora of New York, who conducted the recent banking investigation in Washington, and Samuel Seabury, counsel for the New York City investigation, are most mentioned.

Practically Without Limit

The resolution providing for the investigation is practically unlimited in scope. Even if confined to public utilities it would be very broad, since there are 1002 such companies in the state, including gas, electric, telephone, water, railroad, etc. But the committee is authorized to go outside the state to delve into operations, bookkeeping, financing and lobbying, or practically whatever it pleases. It may also go into the activities by other interests "at Albany or elsewhere, for or against legislation affecting or which might have affected the interests of such persons, firms or corporations". Prophecy is freely made here that if the committee carries out the entire program it will have a two or three-year job.

Verdict in Thayer Case

By unanimous vote of 47 to 0, with four vacancies in the chamber, the Senate last week voted that Senator Warren T. Thayer of Franklin County was guilty of official misconduct in writing the Associated Gas & Electric Company that he hoped his services in killing bills it opposed were satisfactory; in receiving from it money for local campaign expenses, and in accepting from it $3600 a year for several years while he was chairman of the Senate Public Service Committee. The Senate did not vote on the genuineness of the letters, which was admitted by the Senator, nor on expelling him, inasmuch as he had already resigned. It will be recalled that the letters in question came to light during an investigation in Washington and created such a sensation that the Senate promptly ordered an investigation by its Judiciary Committee, which action was quickly followed by the authorization of the general investigation yet to be held.

Important Election Dates

The annual Political Calendar issued by the Secretary of State contains the following important election dates for 1934; First day for signing designating petitions, June 28; last day for County Chairman to notify Board of Elections of party positions to be filed, July 31; dates for filing designating petitions, August 14 to 21; last day to decline designation, Aug. 24; last day to fill vacancy after designation, Aug. 28; Fall Primary, Sept. 13; first day for holding state and judicial conventions, Sept. 26; last day for filing nominations, Oct. 2; last day for filing declinations, Oct. 5; last day for filing new nominations, Oct. 9; dates for filing independent nominations, Oct. 2 to 9; last day to decline independent nominations, Oct. 12; last day to fill vacancy in independent nominations, Oct. 15

Utility Issue Echo is Heard

One of the first political echoes of the utility issue came last week from Westchester County, where Senator Westall failed to secure the approval of the members of the Republican County Committee as a candidate to succeed himself on account of his attitude on that question. Mr. Westall has been in the Legislature since 1919, four years as Assemblyman and twelve as Senator. Dissatisfaction among his constituents arose a few years ago when he held out for some time against the New York City investigation and almost killed the proposition. He later supported it, however, and the incident was almost forgotten until he stepped into the fight to retain Mr. Hammond as Clerk of the Assembly in the early part of this year. It was generally understood in Albany that the four Republican members of the Assembly from Westchester would have voted to oust Mr. Hammond but for the pressure exerted by Senator Westall to hold them in line. This attitude was resented by the rank and file of the party in the county and is understood in Albany to have been the direct cause of Mr. Westall's failure to again secure the nomination for Senator.

New York's Eight Cent Milk

The increase from 12 to 13 cents in the price of milk delivered in bottles in New York City has led to the establishment there by the municipality of depots where milk is sold direct to the consumer at eight cents a quart. The demand has steadily increased and is now about 30,000 quarts a day. The purpose is to provide cheap milk for the poor only, and there is difficulty in keeping those who could well afford to pay the regular price from taking advantage of it. The dairyman receives the same price in any case, but inasmuch as the distributors claim to be selling milk to the city at an actual loss for these stations, and the city bears the expense of distribution, both wish to confine the purchasers to those who actually deserve the assistance. Grocers and others who sell bottled milk over the counter also complain at the loss of customers. Thus another complication is added to the already complicated milk problem.

Chief Red Fox Stops Over Here

Noted Indian Lecturer Looks Up Walter A. Smith, an Old Acquaintance— Appears at Grange and Avon Theatre— Also Talks Over Old Times With Emery H. Chase, One-time Indian Bandmaster.

Chief Red Fox, a full blooded Sioux, prominent for many years as a lecturer and educator, spent Friday and Saturday in Addison enroute from Springfield, Mass., to Akron, Ohio. Having heard in Elmira that Walter A. Smith, an old acquaintance, was located in Addison as manager of the Avon Theatre, the chief decided to include Addison on his itinerary. He spoke to the children at the Saturday afternoon matinee and also appeared before an assemblage of Grangers on Friday evening.

In speaking of the progress made by the American Indian before the Grange on Friday evening, Chief Red Fox said: "Many misunderstandings came about through the bad leadership of jealous politicians who took advantage of taxpayers and defrauded the Indians of the appropriations that Congress had set aside. Many of the clean, hard-working emigrants who came into the Indian country, lived in sod houses and shared their food with the Indians, were slaughtered by men employed by individual trading corporations in order to keep their territories out of statehood. As long as they continued as territories they were exempted from taxation and they could trade and trap where they saw fit. The selfishness of these men caused war.

"Then came the Custer fight, which was both a victory and a defeat to the Indians. It was a victory in the sense of battle won, but a defeat in the sense that they were eventually confined to a reservation and deprived of their liberties.

"It was not, however, gun powder or the point of the bayonet that actually conquered the American Indian. It was the Bible and the school book which developed clear thinking and strong leadership and which uplifted us from an uneducated state to that of today.

"At the present time we have 111 boarding schools, 232 day schools and 57 junior colleges for the education of the Indian youth. These 57 colleges have developed the Indian into a self-supporting race; 68,000 men are tilling 2,847,000 acres of land today. The reason that the Indian did not develop agriculture successfully at an earlier date is because the Indian agents would dispose of their crops at high prices and settle with the Indian on a low market.

"The Wheeler-Howard bill, which has just been passed by Congress makes the Indian an independent, self-governing body of people. The United States government will now act as a guardian just as she does in the case of Cuba. This law will mean a general uplift in Indian culture and a general advance in commercial progress. The Navajo Indians in New Mexico, a fine, industrious people, are already building their own capitol, and other groups will shortly follow suit."

Chief Red Fox stated that of the 119,000 Indians in the state of Oklahoma only approximately 5 per cent are pure Indian, the remainder being of mixed white and Indian blood. Due to intermarriage, he said, 85 per cent of the Indian children speak only English and their knowledge of the language and customs of their fathers has been lessened with each succeeding generation.

Chief Red Fox was born at Thunder Butt, Dakota Territory, June 11, 1870. His father was Black Eagle, an Ogalala Sioux, who fought with the red men in the engagement against Custer's forces. His mother was White Swan, an Umpahop Sioux. After finishing at Carlisle, in 1889, the young chief enlisted in the U. S. Navy and served with the colors for seven years and five months, in the course of which he visited nearly every country in the world. Leaving the Navy in 1901, he joined Buffalo Bill's wild west show and from 1904 to 1908 toured Europe, visiting every country except Finland. In 1908, he returned to the United States and became associated with the then infant motion picture industry, an activity which he followed intermittently until 1926. He was co-star to Richard Dix in "The Vanishing American", and also appeared in "The Covered Wagon" and other leading films, including "Desert Gold", "Arizona Bound", "Man of the Forest", etc.

During the World War Chief Red Fox served in the intelligence department of the U. S. Government. Since that time he has become well known as a lecturer and educator, his talks on art, health, Indian customs and folk lore, fellowship and citizenship having aroused commendation among school superintendents, service clubs, etc., throughout the nation. Early in July, Chief Red Fox will leave for a boys' camp in North Carolina to fulfill a two months' engagement as lecturer and instructor. During the Fall and Winter he will give a series of lectures in the public school systems of the various cities of New York State and Massachusetts, including Albany, Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Amsterdam, etc.

In describing various customs of the Indian, Chief Red Fox said at one point in his talk with an ADVERTISER representative, "Crimes were very exceptional among the Indians before the white man came. This was due to the penalties which were extremely severe and were rigidly enforced. It was also a matter of education and child training. The Indian child was taught discipline from the very beginning". In referring to government among the tribes, the chief said that the men were supreme in tribal relations and in matters of peace and war. The women, however, controlled the law of the village and governed through a women's council of fifty-four of which a majority ruled. The father, however, was the disciplinarian and head of the family.

The Sioux and other Indian groups have made excellent progress, the chief stated, since the facilities of education have been made available to them. Many of the Sioux operate large farms and ranches and are very successful as tillers of the soil. Others have attained eminence in varying lines of endeavor. Always noted for his athletic prowess and his skill on the hunt and chase, the Indian of today is making a name for himself in the athletic sports which the white man has taught him. Two years ago, the basketball team of St. Francis Indian Academy captured the national Catholic championship at Chicago in competition with representative fives from schools throughout the nation, and the same institution year after year has been ranking high in competition with all schools of the Northwest. The girls' basketball team, representing the Ogalala boarding school, has also attained to much eminence through a long series of winning campaigns.

While in Addison, Chief Red Fox enjoyed a long visit with Emery H. Chase, who at one time served as a government musical instructor and bandmaster among the Osage Indians.

NEW YORK STATE DEPRESSION PROOF TREMAINE SAYS

Comptroller Cites Record to Show Market Price for Empire State Bonds Constantly Rose While Other Securities Receded.

To Offer $30,000,000 Relief Issue June 28

Unbroken Debt-Paying Record, Plus Constitutional Safeguards Given as Reasons for Increasing Investor Confidence.

Albany, June 21—While preparing for a $30,000,000 issue of New York State bonds for unemployment relief purposes, to be sold to the highest bidder on June 28, State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine declared today that throughout the worst business years in the history of the country, the credit of New York State had proved itself "depression proof".

Mr. Tremaine cited official records in his office to show that since the beginning of 1930, when the decline in the value of most securities had set in, the price of New York State's outstanding obligations began to rise in the open market and has continued to rise almost constantly ever since.

The gradual increase in investor confidence, he said, can be measured with almost mathematical accuracy by examining the record of public offerings of State issues since March 15, 1930, when the Comptroller sold an issue of $31,500,000 State bonds at an interest cost to the State of 3.79 per cent.

"Of course," Mr. Tremaine pointed out, "the lower the interest rate paid by the State for borrowed money, the higher the price paid by the investor. That is elemental arithmetic."

Then the Comptroller cited the progressively lower interest rates at which the State borrowed money on succeeding issues as follows:

| Date of Sale | Amount | Interest Cost |
|---|---|---|
| April 7, 1931 | $34,975,000 | 3.46% |
| Sept. 15, 1931 | 40,000,000 | 3.22% |
| Dec. 14, 1932 | 30,400,000 | 3.02% |
| June 28, 1933 | 26,595,000 | 2.93% |
| Oct. 24, 1933 | 29,500,000 | 2.88% |
| April, 3, 1934 | 50,000,000 | 2.88% |

"I have always felt," said Comptroller Tremaine, "that this increasing demand on the part of investors for New York State securities, particularly during business crisis such as that which we have just passed through, has been attributable to an ever growing popular appreciation of these three factors:

"1.—Never in its history has New York State been late in meeting the interest and principal payments on its bonded obligations when due.

"2.—The provisions making state obligations a prior lien on the state's entire taxing power have been riveted into the Constitution itself, so that the payment of its just debts cannot be subject to the whims of any one Legislature regardless of how it might be constituted politically.

"3.—The state cannot borrow a nickel on long-term bonds without first having the express approval of a majority of its voters at a general election. This popular approval must also specify the purpose for which the borrowed money is to be spent."

"So much for the state's credit picture as regards long-term bonds," Mr. Tremaine continued. "There is another phase, however, that is very important, and that is the state's fiscal policy on short-term borrowing, or what are known as notes.

"During the past two or three years we have had to do a considerable amount of short financing to meet budgetary requirements. Here, too, the Constitution shields the interests of the investor. Article VII, Section 2, provides that notes can be issued only against actual revenues to be received and must be paid off in cash from such revenues within one year from the date of issue.

"This means that if the state borrows money on short-term notes it can use the borrowed money to run the operating expenses of government, but it cannot use one cent of revenue for such purposes until a sufficient amount has been impounded and set aside to meet these notes when they come due."

Records in the Comptroller's office, Mr. Tremaine said, show that when he first came to Albany as the State's chief fiscal officer, state bonds were quoted in the market at prices to yield the investor about 3.86%, whereas prices of bonds of similar maturities today are quoted to yield about 3.33%.

It has been calculated by mathematical experts that, taking into consideration the total amount of bonds sold since Mr. Tremaine has been Comptroller, the saving in interest cost to the state's taxpayers brought about by the improved credit rating, has amounted to considerably over $1,000,000 a year.

In connection with the forthcoming sale, the Comptroller announced that the state's total net debt as of June 15, including all long-term bonds and temporary notes outstanding, amounted to $520,272,827.40, or less than 2% of the assessed value of property subject to taxation for state purposes.

where law and order is upheld, yet penal institutions are well populated and criminal activities furnish plenty of newspaper headlines.

Many are the clouds in the sky above. Is there any way we can separate them so tomorrow's sunshine can come through? The pessimist may say, no. Youth unquestionably answers, yes. "Well, we lost the war debt, and the depression wiped out eleven billions, and we stood it. I guess we can pay the bill for recovery", says a Chicago optimist. The younger generation seemingly agrees with him.

The youth of yesterday faced complex situations in all walks of life, but tackled them. Christopher Columbus was a young man when he conceived the idea of sailing westward to reach Asia. He was very enthusiastic but the kings of England, France, Portugal and Spain as well as wealthy men in his native land, Italy saw no reason why they should be interested. For years he worked trying to get financial backing which would separate the clouds and let the morrow's sunshine through. Finally, Queen Isabella of Spain listened to his plea and provided him with a small fleet of three ships. The result was a great discovery. The year 1492 will always be remembered as a date of importance.

You have read that Samuel Morse's theories about telegraphic possibilities were not readily received. Doubts and delays held sway for twelve years. But, at last Congress appropriated the necessary thirty thousand dollars to build the line from Washington to Baltimore. When the work was done the dots and dashes carried over the line the message: "What hath God wrought?" Communication methods were then revolutionized.

William Carey, a young man who lived in England near the close of the eighteenth century was convinced that Jesus meant by those words: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature" that people in heathen lands should be given the opportunity to enjoy Christianity. He continued to think about it. He also prayed about it. One day the way was opened for him to suggest the matter as a topic of discussion at a minister's meeting. An elderly gentleman arose and said: "Young man, sit down. When God gets ready to convert the heathen He will do so without your help or mine." Did Carey become discouraged? No. He kept on praying and hoping. At last the way was opened for him to go to India as a missionary.

Tomorrow there may not be a visible cloud in the sky. Tuesday there may be a great many. Life is like that. New clouds of doubt, of disappointment and of disaster are continually forming to take the place of those which have been dispelled. At the present time the sky seems to be filled with them. Is the situation hopeless? No. Youth can help separate these clouds.

The youth of today will be the leaders of tomorrow. An educational background is valuable but it is not everything. Good books are thought provokers. Fine lectures are imagination stimulators. Initiative, however, must come from the individual. So I suggest tonight that you spend a little time mapping out your future. Day dream, if necessary. Form a vision of what you want to accomplish in life. Where there is no vision, the people perish", says Proverbs. We have all got to live our own lives if we would find happiness. Advice is useful; counsel is necessary many times but the actual decisions must be made by us.

When I graduated from high school I was given a small sum of money. I wanted a new fountain pen. In the company of two others I went to a jewelry store. They picked out one pen: I another, but the clerk sold me their choice. I never used that pen.

The people of the world who have accredited to their names great accomplishments are people who have visions; people who looked forward; people who dreamed of success.

George Washington was a man with a vision. In his mind he created a picture of a nation free and independent. Many times during the Revolutionary War the future looked dark; especially during the winter of 1777 to 1778. There at Valley Forge the living conditions were terrible. At one time according to records 2,898 men out of a force not exceeding 11,000 were unable to go on duty for want of clothing. Did they lose hope? No. Perhaps you have read what an officer wrote at that time. "See the poor soldier . . . if barefoot he labours thro' Mud & Cold with a Song in his mouth extolling War and Washington—if his food be bad—he eats it notwithstanding with seeming content". The visions of Washington and those men made possible for us this nation of the people, by the people and for the people.

Do you remember the cartoon of the strong man with the maul in his hand striking out the apostrophe and t in the sentence—It can't be done? It did look a lot better, didn't it? when it read—It can be done.

The following story is told about AbrahamLincoln. When a young man he took a trip down the Mississippi River. He saw slavery at its worst. To him there came a vision of a better day. His comment was: "If I ever get a chance to hit that thing I'll hit it hard". The chance came when there was laid on his desk for him to sign the Proclamation of Emancipation.

When Rev. James Calvert went to the Fiji Islands his first job, he declared was to bury the hands, arms, feet and heads of eighty people whose bodies had been roasted and eaten. He had a vision of seeing those cannibals Christians. He believed God could and would use him to present to them the message of truth as exemplified in the life of Christ. His faith was rewarded.

"Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me", wrote the Psalmist. His prayer should be our prayer. "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold." Character is something with which one can go a long ways but without can't rise an inch. It is one of those things which is of far more value than an education. One can sow what is termed wild oats but the harvest will not be a pleasant crop.

There is a story told about a man who was constantly saying: "I am doing pretty well on the whole". One day he would create character, then the next take a vacation. He needed a hired man so he chose a Scotchman. With very explicit directions he sent him out to a certain field to build a fence around it. When the laborer returned in the evening he asked: "Well, Jock, is the fence built, and is it tight and strong?" Jock replied: "I can not say that it is all tight and strong but it's a good average fence, anyhow. If some parts are a little weak, others are extra strong. I don't know but what I may have left a gap here and there, a yard wide or so; but then I made up for it by doubling the number of rails on each side of the gap. I dare say that the cattle will find it a very good fence, on the whole, and will like it, though I can not just say that it's perfect". "What", cried the man, not seeing the point, "do you tell me you have built a fence around my lot with weak places in it, and gaps in it? Why you might as well have built no fence at all. If there is one opening or a place where an opening can be made, the cattle will be sure to find it, and all will go through. Don't you know, man that a fence must be perfect or it's worthless?" "I used to think so", said the Scotchman, "but I hear you talk so much about averaging matters with the Lord, seems to me that we might try it with the cattle."

If one would have a sterling character he should make the Christ of Galilee his example and ideal. Jesus was a perfect man. He was God in man. Satan with all of his power could not conquer over Him.

When Jesus was led up of the spirit into the wilderness He fasted forty days and forty nights. Afterwards He hungered. Satan took the opportunity to tempt Him. He wanted the Master to change stone into bread. What did Jesus say? "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God". Satan next urged Him to seek popularity by casting himself down from a pinnacle of the temple. Jesus replied: "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God". Finally Satan showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. "All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me", said he. With authority spake Jesus: "Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and Him only shalt thou serve."

The enemies of Jesus throughout His entire ministry were looking for flaws in His character. They could find none. Hear Him say to them or rather ask them: "Which of you convinceth me of sin?" No man could accept the challenge.

Hanging on the Cross of Calvary Jesus prayed: "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." There was character exemplified. We have all pictured for ourselves the Crucifixion scene. We have looked at copies of the artist's masterpieces. Can we detect any signs of sin in the features of that suffering Christ? No. There was not a blemish in that life.

I have thus far emphasized the necessity of having character and the value of having visions. Now let us form the trio of success by adding WORK. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy", we are told. All play and no work seems to have the same result. Work is honorable. Study is necessary. The last mentioned fact you have undoubtedly had to face during the last four years. It still holds true although the regents are memories. If you are going to help separate the clouds for tomorrow's sunshine you will have to continue to study.

Shall we choose a text this evening? There is at least one in the Bible which emphasizes the facts I have thus far mentioned. It is a verse of advice written by the Apostle Paul to his close friend Timothy. How does it read? "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Why didn't Paul write: Study to show thyself approved unto man? Because man's approval can be won when God's can't. "The Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart". "If God be for us, who can be against us?" Paul asks in his message written to the Christians living at Rome. Paul wrote of his own experiences. Many were the trials he had to endure. On one of his missionary journeys he was shipwrecked. During his ministry he was stoned, imprisoned and beaten. Never did the Christ forsake him. Jesus was his friend and Ideal. That Jesus had called him to do a great work he was convinced. A vision of that work he possessed. He therefore added to that vision character and work. The result was a life which lived on.

I can not promise you, speaking in a prophetic way, a college education, wealth or fame, but I can promise you happiness if you form for yourselves a vision of what you want to accomplish in life; then, with character as your foundation work to make your dreams come true. Why not use the advice of Paul for a motto? "Study to shew thyself approved unto God a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." You too, will then have a part in separating the clouds for tomorrow's sunshine.

Hedgesville Young Man Slips Under Wheels Trying to Get Into Freight Car—Was Searching for Work.

Donald Bouton of Hedgesville lost his right foot and narrowly escaped death when he slipped from a freight car Sunday morning. The accident happened a few miles below Blossburg, the young man having taken that means of traveling in search of a job. Hiis nerve in crawling about a mile to a farm house, undoubtedly saved young Bouten's life.

The young man left the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bouton ,Wednesday night, June 20, determined to find work. After a fruitless search which took him into Pennsylvania, Bouton decided to go down into Maryland making his way on freights. Unaccustomed to freight "hopping," he attempted to get into a box car thirty miles south of Blossburg while the train was moving. Losing his balance in the attempt, the heavy wheels passed over his right ankle.

In spite of the excruciating pain from his crushed foot, Bouton crawled to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl in the little hamlet of Tiadraghton, reaching the door at 4:00 a. m. He was rushed to the Blossburg hospital, where the foot and ankle were amputated.

Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Bouton became alarmed at his absence and appealed to Chief Elmer C. Bovee to assist them in locating their son. Mr. Bovee suggested that a description of the missing younth be broadcast from station WESG in Elmira. Five minutes after telephoning the information to the broadcasting station the chief heard the announcement made.

Sunday afternoon while visiting friends in Troupsburg mention was made of the accident bv members of the Carl family. Their host recalled hearing the broadcast and also reading of the young man's disappearance and a check-up was made establishing his identity.

Chief Bovee is in receipt of a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Bouton expressing their gratitude for his efforts in their behalf.

Mr. Bouton withstood the operation of amputation successfully and when visited by his parents Monday was doing well. It is expected he mav return home in about a week. He had been somewhat despondent for a time before leaving, because of inability to find work.

Miss Marian Dense Married This Morning To Ivan Tompkins

Ceremony at Baptist Parsonage By Rev. K. E. Arnold—Both Young People Prominent in This Section—Wedding Trip to Thousand Islands and Canada.

Miss Marian E. Dense, daughter of William B. Dense, of Addison and Ivan J. Tompkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Tompkins of Fairview Hill were united in marriage this (Thursday) morning June 28th, at 7:00 o'clock. The Rev. Kenneth E. Arnold officiated at the ceremony which took place at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church.

The bride was attired in a dress of white net over silk with white accessories. She carried bridal bouquet of Joanna Hill roses, delphinium and baby's breath. Her traveling costume was a pink silk crepe with white accessories. She was attended by Miss Helen June of Addison, who wore light green organdy with biege picture hat and accessories and who carried a bouquet of Briarclic roses, delphinium and baby's breath. The best man was Bernard Wilson of Canisteo.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the bride and groom and their attendants by Miss Ruth Dense, sister of the bride.

The bride, a popular and charming young lady has been prominent in social circles in recent years. She is a graduate of Addison High School class of 1926, of the Addison Training Class in 1927 and of Geneseo Normal in 1932. For a peiod of five years she has been engaged as a teacher in the vicinity of Osceola and Borden. The groom, a graduate of the Addison High School in 1927, owns and operates a large farm on Fairview Hill.

After a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, Canada and Northern New York, the young couple will reside on Fairview Hill.

Hail, for the dearest class of all,
'Tis the class of thirty-four,
Who bids you welcome one and all
As the classes of years before.
So Join with us to sing a song
To praise this class in numbers small
Who has the four years' work well done and attained this goal one and all.
To the colors maroon and gold
We'll be true though we wander far;
For our motto shall be bold
Because, "The night brings out the stars."
The class we shall always adore
Is that of nineteen thirty-four.

Registering Graves of Veterans Approved

Registering the graves of all war veterans has been approved as a state TERA project by the state administration, according to a recent announcement by the Rev. Carl J. Grabb, chairman of the Steuben County Emergency Work Bureau.

The project will include the making a survey and maps of all cemeteries in the county. Legion posts are cooperating in the undertaking and will assist the workers in locating the several hundred cemeteries, many of which are known only to the older residents. The Legion will also defray the expense of necessary materials such as stationery and drafting equipment.

Any one familiar with any of the earlier cemeteries in Southern Steuben is requested to communicate their knowledge of its location and other pertinent facts to Elmer C. Bovee, Commander of Williams-Greengrass Post, or other Legion officials.

Mrs. Marilla C. Bronson Dies at South Addison

The death of Mrs. Marilla Carr Bronson occurred at her home in South Addison last Wednesday afternoon. She was 73 years of age.

Mrs. Bronson was born in Schuler County, October 16, 1861, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Humpstead. She had resided in Addison since her early girlhood. In 1884 she was united in marriage to Henry Carr whose death occurred in 1902. Seven years later she was married to Levi Bronson, who died December 9, 1923. Mrs. Bronson was a devoted members of the Presbyterian Church and leaves a wide circle of friends who will be grieved at her passing.

Surviving are: a daughter, Mrs. Carrie Moore of Elmira; and several grandchildren including Rush Moore, George Moore, Harold Moore, Mrs. Mary Woodbeck of Addison; Mrs. Jennie Vona and Harry Chase of South Addison; Mrs. Lila Shelanskey, Mrs. Blanche Stewart of Addison, and Mrs. Wilma Stiles of Elkland. Seventeen great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held from the late home last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, the Rev. John V. Axtell, pastor of the Addison Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial took place in South Addison Cemetery.

Dairyman Loses Bag, Sends Map to Aid Search

Delbert Lewis of Cameron Mills left his traveling bag behind after attending the dairymen's League meeting in Syracuse last week. But it didn't take him long to get it back. The following reprint from the Syracuse Post Standard of June 25 tells how he did it.

"Delbert Lewis of Cameron Mills, doesn't exactly remember the names of the streets in Syracuse but he got his bearing pretty well last week in spite of that.

"Delbert attended the annual meeting of the Dairymen's League last Thursday. When he got home Friday he found his traveling bag was still in Syracuse.

"So he wrote a letter to Chief Cadin for help. Lewis told him that he'd stored his car in a garage somewhere near Central High School, where the meeting was held. He'd left the bag at the garage and wanted police to find the garage, then forward the bag C. O. D.,

"Lewis inclosed a detailed map of his own showing where he thought the garage was. One X marked the school, another Hotel Syracuse, a third the garage. He also described how he turned right and left after leaving the meeting to get to the garage.

"Detective Frank Burgen took these ample directions, walked over to Syracuse garage and retrieved Mr. Lewis' bag with little effort.

Champion Violinist Buys Eight-String Violin

There was recently conducted by Station WESG of Elmira an old-time fiddlers' contest for the championship of a large part of New York State and Pennsylvania, and which was won by Eugene Shafer of Towanda, Pa., who now discards his ordinary or 4-string violin, which he used in the contest, and has adopted in its stead, one of the high class eight-string violins which are made at Addison, as his favorite instrument. He drove to this place early Sunday morning and left his $75 prize-winning fiddle here which he exchanged for the higher-priced 8-string instrument, and paying the difference in cash.

It is believed by many that the 8-string violin has brought out so many hitherto unknown or neglected points in the science of the violin in general, such as upon intonation, deflection and its effects, tone-interval correction, auxiliary tones, etc., that the time is rapidly approaching when a violinist to be truly modern, must play and be acquainted with both forms of the violin in order to thoroughly understand either one. Because of this, many violinists and teachers in schools and colleges are endeavoring to obtain these—even renting them for study purposes, in order to anticipate what seems to be the trend of modern times.

Midshipman Watkins Leaves On Cruise To Foreign Waters

The following excerpt from the Texaco Star, house organ of the Texaco Corporation, will be read with interest by residents of Addison and vicinity. The article refers to Nelson Payne Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watkins of Buffalo and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Payne of Addison.

It reads:

Frank Watkins' son, Nelson P., now a member of the second year class at the United States Naval Academy, has just started on a cruise aboard the battleship Arkansas, which will end about September 1. The Arkansas will visit Plymouth, Gibraltar, Villefranche, in southern France, Naples and Morocco.

At the end of the cruise, the Arkansas will join the rest of the fleet off the coast of Cuba and take part in battle practice. It will be a memorable summer for Midshipman Watkins".

The young man's parents are former Addison residents. His father, Frank Watkins, is at present regional supervisor for the Texaco Company.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

N. Y. Fair Work Progresses Fast

Syracuse, June 25—The labor troubles which at one time threatened to delay progress on the new Women's building at the New York State Fair grounds have all been straightened out. Contractors state with assurance that the building will be ready for use in ample time for the opening of the Exposition on September 1st.

Cost for this new unit of the State Fair plant is being defrayed by accumulated profits ear-marked for the purpose and by an award from the state legislature—the only appropriation of the sort the bill carried—which was promptly signed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who has become deeply interested in the Fair's progress.

The State Architect's plans show the new building admirably designed for its purpose. Among other notable features is a large auditorium in which speakers representing prominent women's organizations may be heard under favorable conditions.

Each day at the Women's Building a Marionette show of more than ordinary excellence will be presented on the stage. These shows, so popular in southern Europe, will be a real novelty to State Fair audiences. So cleverly are they executed that the audience forgets the characters are but puppets on strings in the hands of skillful manipulators, and invests them with the thrill of living drama.

In the Women's Building on Thursday, Governor's Day, will be held the annual luncheon to the visiting Governor and the wife of the Governor, this year for the first time in creditable surroundings.

Speaker and Orchestra At Goodhue Lake on Fourth

Revised plans for the Fourth of July celebration at Goodhue Lake call for the customary Independence Day observance instead of and "old fashioned" celebration as at first announced. A speaker has been procured for the afternoon program and a four piece orchestra will also furnish music at that time. The Addison High School Band will furnish music during the evening. It is stated, however, that in case of rain on the evening of the fourth, the band concert will be held the following Sunday night instead. A large attendance is expected both on the fourth and the Sunday following.

According to a recent announcement, the lake properies will henceforth be in charge of Jimmerson & Little, succeeding Mrs. George Kingsley and Mrs. Carrie Green under whose management the lodge pavillion and picnic grounds were conducted prior to last week.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS TO BE HELD AT CATON

Many friends and relatives in this vicinity will be glad to learn that the Rev. Oren F. Fero, who spent his boyhood days in Curtis Hollow and was a graduate of Addison High School will be in this vicinity again in July.

The Rev. Fero, who for the past twenty years has made his home in California, will be sent as an evangelist to the Free Methodist Camp Meeting which will be held at Caton, July 5 to 15.

PICNIC SUPPER

The last regular meeting of the Rebekah Lodge for the summer will be held in I. O. O. F. hall Thursday evening. A picnic supper will be served at 6:30 to members and their families. Each family attending is requested to bring rolls for selves and a dish of food. Regular meetings will be resumed in September.

CONDITION IMPROVED

The condition of Arthur Moyer, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moyer, who has been critically ill with scarlet fever for several days, is reported as improved.

GIRL SCOUTS

A picnic for girl scouts, their parents and members of their families will be held on the lawn of the old Grammar School on Tuscarora Street at five o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon. The meeting, which will precede the picnic, will be the last regular meeting of the year, it having been voted at last week's gathering to discontinue regular meetings for the rest of the summer.

Scout headquarters will be kept open on Saturday noons, however, in order that the scouts may have an opportunity to work on their merit badges for the fall rally and to make use of the library reading material. The quarters will be in charge of the scout captain, Miss Dorothy Sareen and Miss Mary Tobin, lieutenant.

HAS OPERATION

Mrs. Leonard B. Hoaglin who submitted to a major operation at the Robert Packer Hospital in Sayre Tuesday forenoon is reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Advertising To Be Used To Increase Sale of Milk

New York, June 25—Newspaper advertising principally will be relied upon by the State of New York to put over its half-million dollar milk promotion campaign, authorized by the Legislature and now being launched by the Department of Agriculture and Markets under direction Charles H. Baldwin. Both city and agricultural publications will be utilized.

The purpose of the advertising campaign, according to the commissioner is to increase consumption of fluid or bottled milk and cream, and thereby solve the problem of surplus which has beset this, the most vital industry in New York State. The fund for the campaign is to be raised by a tax of one cent the hundred pounds of milk (about forty-seven quarts) or its equivalent in chream produced and sold within the State. The tax will be shared by the producers and distributors.

From Albany Commissioner Baldwin announced that the firm of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., here will direct the advertising and promotion, the selection of that agency having been by unanimous approval of the Technical Advisory Board.

"This action", Mr. Baldwin said, "is a new venture in government; but it is a constructive approach to a problem that has baffled our people for a long time. It marks a noteworthy effort on the part of the State of New York in that through this forward-looking legislation the tools of modern commercial success are being employed in a movement benefitting all the people of the state. With the power of advertising and experienced promotion behind the purpose we are hopeful for its success which will mean financial benefits to our farmers and improved health for all our citizens".

William Newcomb Member of Resolutions Committee at Syracuse

Secretary of Addison Dairymen's League Honored at Annual Meeting—Delegates Present From Thruout Milk Shed — Body Urges That Embargo Be Placed on Shipments of Cattle, Except for Immediate Slaughter.

William Newcomb, secretary of the Addison local, Dairymen's League, attended the annual meeting of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, held last week in Syracuse. Others in attendance from this section were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hovey of Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kilmer of Woodhull and W. J. Sherwood of Cameron. Representations were present from the entire New York Milk Shed, including the states of New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Newcomb was signally honored by election to the Resolutions Committee. This committee, after a two-day session urged that should conditions in the milk shed be changed by ample rainfall and the drought situation relieved, the association recommend to tate Commissioner Baldwin that prompt resumption of initial tuberculin tests as a public health measure, and also for the purpose of removing from production diseased animals from which farmers can expect but limited economic returns.

The committee also recommended that Governor Lehman be requested to call a special session of the Legislature and that he send to this session a special message asking for sufficient appropriations for the purpose of paying indemnities to farmers whose cattle are condemned for tuberculosis and that such appropriation be in sufficient amount that any deficiencies between the salvage value, plus Federal indemnity and the full appraisal value as placed upon them by the appraisors of the state, can be paid to farmers whose cattle are condemned.

Other resolutions asked: that the Department of Agriculture of the United States be requested to specifically include cattle condemned for mastitis among those for which indemnities are paid, the indemnity to be paid upon those cattle condemned for this disease when condemned by qualified veterinarians engaged in the regular inspection of dairy herds in the course of their duties of inspecting these herds for approval as milk supplies for the various markets in the territory; that the Dairymen's League favor, approve and actively support any legislation which has for its purpose the further restriction of imports of oils and fats to be used in the manufacture of butter substitutes; that the control boards in all other states of the milk shed be earnestly requested to acquaint themselves with certain conditions by rigid enforcement of minimum price schedules to producers and the abolishment of all concessions of whatever nature which pseudo-cooperatives are according to purchaser of their product.

The order governing the shipment of cattle suffering from Bang's disease was approved by the committee, which also recommended that the shipment of all stock, except for immediate slaughter, be restricted until the spring of 1936, due to an apparent shortage of feed. The committee also urged that State Commissioner Baldwin and the State Advisory Committee having jurisdiction over the expenditure of money provided by the Ostertag bill, be urged to consider the facilities which already exist with a trained personnel having years of experience in this type of work and that he appropriate to the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association a sufficient part of the money available under the Ostertag bill to be expended by the association under his supervision and subject to his audit, in order that the highly important educational work be continued rather than entrust the work to any organization which has not by experience in this field, shown qualifications of accomplishments such as has been demonstrated by the League.

Among high points for the year in League activities mentioned at the session were (1) a membership of 43,504—a decline of 14.6 per cent, attributed to cancellation on the part of members, on the part of the association, or refusal on the part of the association to accept the usual number of applicants for membership to replace those discontinuing; (2) total volume of milk delivered by members during the year was 2,673,758,199 pounds, a decrease of 14.4 per cent; (3) gross sales were $55,454,822.85, an increase of 0.6 per cent over the preceding year.

Country plants in operation on March 31, 1934 totaled 141, there having been eliminated during the year 32 plants. This program of consolidation was said to be in large part responsible for the improvement in operations amounting to $281,257.52. Within a four-year period, as a result of consolidation, average plant volumes were increased from 154 cans to 320 cans per day. The resulting decrease in handling costs per hundredweight amounted to 38 per cent.

The weighted average net pool price paid producers for the year was $1.316 per hundred pounds, an increase over the previous year of 27.8 per cent. Cash distributed to members was $38,314,171.94, an increase of 11.7 per cent. The association was instrumental in securing a reduction in freight rates applicable to the milk shed territory. The saving from this source totalled more than $135,000. The association was also instrumental in furthering the gold policy of the national administration, designed to lift commodity prices.

Peck Farm Selects Promising Young Bull

L. L. & E. L. Peck of Savona wanted a Holstein bull that would transmit high butterfat to his daughters and asked the Farm Bureau where such a bull might be obtained.

As a result they now own Maple Inkarnation Walker, a promising young herd sire whose dam for the last three milkings has an average test of 4.1. The three daughters of this bull's sire have produced better than their dams, an indication that the bull transmits high production.

It is this kind of blood that dairymen desire to breed into their herds, in order that high production may become a fixed characteristic. A feature of the Better Bull program is a list, maintained in the Farm Bureau office, of bulls offered for sale in the best herds of the state. All of these herds are on test and the production of the immediate ancestry of the bulls is known.

This information is available to all dairymen of the county.

WESTFIELD OAKS VANQUISHED BY ADDISON SUNDAY

Addison Tri-co Nine Pounds Out Victory Over Westfield, 6-4

Locals on Toes Throughout Contest and Play Bang-up Ball — "Vas", Back on Bench, Sends in Pinch Hitters Who Deliver in Quantity Lots—Return of Old Master Hailed By Fans—Grange on Mound.

The Addison Tri-County League baseball nine snapped out of a prolonged slump at Tuscarora Field Sunday afternoon and sent the Westfield aggregation home on the short end of a 6 to 4 count. The Addison players snapped into the game with zest and vim, outslugged the Pennsylvania boys and with Burrell Vastbinder back of the bench directing the strategical attack, outsmarted their rivals.

After a ragged start the Addison nine braced and fought the opposition to a standstill, pulling some of the finest fielding plays seen on the historic battleground in many a day. Chan Young and Pete Riker excelled in this line with Hewson and Hickey close behind.

The game was a real, old time fracas which saw pinch-hitters, double plays, etc., mixed in such rapid succession that the small but enthusiastic crowd was a fit subject for the crazy factory long prior to the end which was a thriller in itself.

Three visiting pitchers faced the Addison clouters but they all looked alike to Vastbinder's re-invigorated thumpers, who garnered an assortment of fourteen solid blows including long range triples by John Grange, Kellogg and Hickey. Don Grange pitched steady ball and was all to the good in the pinches. The Westfield boys were in the fight all the time, a fast double killing featuring their errorless defense. Pete and Eddie Zerfluh pulled some fancy fielding, while Eddie Zerfluh, Moore and Faulkner led the visitors in safe hitting. All in all, it was a real ball game, such as these two teams invariably stage when they meet head-on.

Hewson started things for Addison in the first inning with a safe blow. He stole the next two stations and counted on Riffle's line drive to center. A counter offensive by Westfield in the second sent three runs over the plate and gave the lead to the Pennsylvanians.

Young's single was followed by a mighty wallop to deep right from the bat of John Grange, running the Addison total up to 2.

Robbins worked Outman for the only free pass of the game and Hickey, the speed demon, slammed a drive into deep center, which sent the youthful backstop over the pan. Kellogg, the killer, came into the fray at this stage and drove the first pitch far over the right fielder's head to tie the score.

Hewson's tap at the start of the seventh placed the speedy infielder safe on first, and Phil Hickey of Fordham fame crashed a three-bagger which sent the Addison field captain home with the run which placed the locals one to the good. At the start of the ninth, Riker rapped Cushing's first pitch for a single to center. Riffle forced him, but Young snapped a safe blow out of the infield and Blazer Hadlock, the high school luminary, drove a single over short to bring Riffle home.

Westfield made a gallant effort to score in the ninth. Paddock singled but on the next play Young, Hewson and Riker executed a nifty double killing which eased the pressure. Moore singled and Faulkner slammed a safety to short left center. Zerfluh's drive, however, was gathered in by Chan Young, which squelched the Westfield threat.

Galeton Here In Tri-co Tilt

Legion Juniors, Featuring Flynn, Hargrave, Beers and Other High School Stars to Oppose Canisteo In Second Half of Double Bill.

Galeton'sTri-County League team will come here next Sunday afternoon to oppose the Addison nine at Tuscarora Field in the first half of a double bill. The second game on the afternoon's offering will find Bun Stewart's Legion Juniors locking horns with the Canisteo Legion team. The first game will be called at 3 P. M. sharp.

The Addison Tricos showed a complete reversal of form in last Sunday's contest when they defeated Westfield, 6 to 4. With Burrell Vastbinder, whose name has been linked to winning combinations for a generation or more, again directing affairs from the Addison dugout, the boys have snapped back into the fray with new vim and confidence. It looks as if Addison would be going places from now on.

Lefty Flynn, who pitched brilliant ball for Coach Hewson's Knights during the high school campaign, will dish up the balls and strikes for the Addison Legionnaires. Lefty pitched shutout ball throughout both Hornell encounters over the week-end, but faltering support cost him two victories. Unless all indications fail, he will be out to square up the books by downing the Canisteo tossers. With any kind of support, this is exactly what should happen, according to those in the know.

Popular prices on the new and reduced scale, will prevail. But one admission will be charged for both games.

BIG MACK WILL SOON BE BACK

Walt McDermott who has pitched the Addison Tri-County League team to many notable victories in the past two or three years, has recovered from his recent illness and has been getting ready during the past fortnight to resume his turn on the firing line. Manager Vastbinder has not announced his selection for the Galeton contest next Sunday, but it is likely that big Mack will break in either at that time or the week following.

Freeman Edges Out Van Vleets

Little Six Nine Conquers Neighboring "Old Timers" in Last of Tenth—Beers and Wilson Oppose Davenport.

Manager Glenn Beers led his Freeman "Little Six" nine to victory over the Van Vleets "Old Timers" last Sunday, 6 to 5, in a nip-and-tuck ten-inning game. Freeman won out in the extra stanza when Wilson singled, Connors grounded out and Beers doubled, bringing Wilson home.

Legion Boys Drop Pair To Hornell

Flynn's Box Work Outstanding But Support is Weak — Hornell Defense Supports Flanagan at All Stages.

Despite excellent pitching by Lefty Flynn, the junior baseball nine representing Williams-Greengrass Post, No. 730, American Legion, dropped two games to the Horneld Legion team in a series which will lead off toward the county, state, regional and national championships.

The Hornell boys presented an air-tight defense and backed up their pitcher at all stages of both encounters. Flynn's support was faulty at all stages, many taps landed for safeties which should have been easy outs. Although Hornell piled up eight runs in the second game, "Lefty's" offerings were touched for but three clean hits and with proper support he would have blanked the opposition. Hargrave's play at first for Addison was also outstanding. David Little made the only hit for Addison in the second game.

Line-ups were:

At Addison Thursday

HORNELL—Flanagan, p; Crosby, c; Heinze, 1b; Lawrence, 2b; Parlavideo, ss; Cheski, 3b; Stewart, lf; Rohan, cf; Durkee, rf.

ADDISON — Flynn, p; Beers, c; Hargrave, 1b; Dominick, 2b; Gardner, ss; Lindsley, 3b; Peck, lf; Hults, cf; Little, rf.

In Sunday's game both teams lined up the same as on Thursday, except that Hulse appeared back of the plate for Addison, with Beers in left. Root and Little in center and Aldrich in right.

The Addison Legion nine will oppose Canisteo here on July 1st and there on July 5th.

All-High Enters Team in Salli Loop

High School Stars of Recent Years Included in Formidable Lineup—Schedule To Be Announced Soon.

The newly-organized Addison All-High team, embracing many former high school stars of recent years, has been granted a franchise in the Salli League, which is swinging into action again after a season or two of inactivity. The league comprised teams from Steuben, Allegany and Livingston Counties, accounting for the coined word "Salli" which designates the circuit.

Harold Hibbard who is piloting the All-High ensemble, announces a tentative line-up as follows: Pitchers, Joe Hopper, George Hopper, John Flynn, Indian Mosher, Pete Crowl, Charles Hickey and Ed Kerins; catchers, Marshall Rice and Mosher; first base, Russell Wade and Ray Hargrave; second, Gib Doddato and Clarence Kelly; short, Milt Crane; third, Pete Henley; left, Jim Kelly and Neil Smith; center, Hadlock and Hickey; right, Hamilton and Hibbard.

Teams in the re-organized loop are Wellsville, Dansville, Almond, Avon, Arkport, Addison, Hornell and Mount Morris. A schedule for the season will be announced later this week by Leo Krause, of Hornell, league secretary.

Jasper and Troupsburg Again In Tie For Little Six Leadership

Aces Trim Freeman, 13 to 3, While Tigers Fall Before Whitesville Onslaught---Austinburg Downs Woodhull's Invincibles.

The Jasper Aces are back in a tie for first place in the Little Six. A victory over Freeman, 13 to 3, coupled with the uprising of Whitesville against the Troupsburg Tigers, turned the trick in last Sunday's tangles.

Moore was on the rubber for Bob Drake's aggregation and steered all Freeman batsmen away from the pan until the last inning when he loosened up and three counters crept home. Bob Drake pasted a home run far into right field territory for the outstanding hitting performance of the day. Waight at short picked up numerous hard-hit balls and continued his sensational play. Schoonover and Van Skiver at third and second, respectively presented an impregnable defense.

Beers, back of the plate for Freeman, was full of fight and kept the Freeman boys in a threatening militant mood when all seemed lost. Llewellyn at short also played excellent ball.

Rines Brothers, Nationally Known Evangelists, To Be At Borden Church

Rev. Emmett Roys, pastor of the Borden Baptist Church, announces that for two weeks, beginning Tuesday, June 26, a Gospel Crusade will be conducted in the Borden Church by the Rines Brothers, nationally known evangelists. These brothers present the Gospel in sermon, song and sketch, both of them being forceful preachers and talented singers, and Frank Rines being one of the foremost platform crayon artists before the public today. using large paper posters and over a dozen colors of "Lecturers' Chalks", he illustrates many of his sermons with drawings that are actually large pastel paintings; pictures that are made before the eyes of the audience while the sermon is in progress. As Frank C. Goodman, Secretary Service Department, Greater New York Federation of Churches, says, "Mr. Rines is an artist of fine taste and ability, transforming pictures with a rapidity that never fails to charm his audience; while he draws he talks with telling power".

Albert D. Rines is a fine tenor singer, and one of the most attractive features of the services will be the solo and duet singing to his guitar accompaniment.

Pastor and people cordially invite everyone who can to attend all the services held nightly at eight o'clock.

AS PRESIDENT OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS, JOHN HANCOCK WAS THE FIRST TO SIGN THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

JULY 4TH

America's birthday — How little we realize what it meant to those brave men of '76 to defy the mighty forces of oppression and declare the independence of the Colonies.

We should all endeavor to measure up to their standard of patriotism.
